Steam Heat and Wrinkles

(Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell.) It is a perfectly well known fact that heat and dry atmosphere have that heat and dry atmosphere have more to do with gathering wrinkles upon the face than has age. The skin of even the youngest may dry and shivel into lines when confined in rooms heated by steam. You wonder why your skin feels so tight and drawn, why red blisters come upon your lips and little irritations just inside the nostrils. The reason is simple. Dry heat is enervating to the entire system.

How to Shed a Rough, Chapped or Blotchy Skin

This is what you should do to shed a bad complexion: Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax. Let this stay on overnight, washing it off next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or absorbs the filmy surface skin, exposing the absorbs the filmy surface skin. exposing the lovely young skin beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the old skin coming off at a time. Mercolized wax is obtainable at any drug store; one ounce usually suffices, lit's a veritable wonder-worker for rough, chapped, reddened, blotchy, pimpled, freckled or sallow skin.

Pure powdered saxolite is excellent for a wrifakled skin. An ounce of it dissolved in a half-pint witch hazel makes a refreshing wash-lotton. This ronders the skin quite firm and smooth; indeed, the very first application erases the finer lines; the deeper ones soon follow.
